NASA study verifies global warming trends; How inland waters 'breathe' carbon—and what it means for global systems Okay, thanks for clarifying that :) I'm still not getting the correct answer, though. The correct answer, according to the solutions manual, is 7.1 m/s (which is the answer I get for v_{AB}). When the solutions manual decomposes the x-direction, they use the values for car B, which I don't understand (since in my head, car B moves only in the y-direction).
